Present Public Debt.

Secretary Windom Interviewed on the Subject.

AN ERRONEOUS IMPRESSION,

Which Has Become Public, Corrected by Mr. Windom—The Financial Condition of the United States Treasury at the Present Time with Comparisons with Previous Years—Other Washington Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Secretary Windom, in an interview with a representative of the United Press, made the following statement in reply to certain newspaper statements that during the months of July and August of this year the public debt had been increased over $7,100,000, while during the same months in 1888 the debt had been decreased over $11,000,000:

"These statements," the secretary said, "convey an entirely erroneous impression. The fact is, as shown by the books of the treasury, that on the 30th of June, 1889, the total amount of the public debt including bonds of all kinds was $[illegible]5,388,987, and on the 31st day of August it was only $875,478,807, showing a reduction of $20,910,180 during those two months.

The reduction during the same months of last year was only about one-third of that amount, viz., $7,051,270.

The reduction of the annual interest charged on the public debt during the months of July and August, 1888, was only $291,301.10, while the reduction of the annual interest charged during the same months this year was $775,685 being a little more than three times as great a reduction as last year. In fact the reduction of annual interest on the public debt during the last two months has been equalled by only a few periods in the country's history, notably in President Garfield's administration, during the first six months of which, the annual interest charge was reduced $15,311,872.

"The erroneous newspaper conclusion, above referred to, arose doubtless from the peculiar form of the monthly statement of the public debt issued by this department, in which the amount of the debt is given less cash in the treasury. By this form any increase of the cash in the treasury shows an apparent decrease of the debt, and disbursements, for any purpose, other than the purchase of bonds at par value, show an apparent increase of the public debt, equal to the amount of such disbursements.

"For instance, if the public debt were stated to-day at $800,000,000, less cash in the treasury, and to-morrow $10,000,000 should be paid out on warrants drawn by the other departments, the amount of the public debt, less cash in the treasury, would be stated to-morrow (assuming no receipts) at $810,000,000, notwithstanding the fact that the entire $10,000,000 so drawn out may still be in the hands of the bonded disbursing officers of the other departments, and to all intents and purposes as much the money of the government as if it were in the vaults of the treasury. The facts during the last two months exactly correspond to this supposed case, and though the actual reduction of the debt was $20,910,180, the debt statement showed an apparent increase of $7,091,003.

"The increase of disbursements made in July and August this year over July and August last year is accounted for by the fact that most of the appropriation bills were not passed in 1888 until September and October, and the money was not available, except to such limited amounts as were permitted by the 'continuance resolutions' of congress, while in 1889 the appropriations for the entire year were available on July 1.

"Nearly all of the departments drew in July and August, and placed in the hands of their disbursing officers, sums for the future largely in excess of the expenditures for those months. One of them will have balances on hand from such drafts of $5,000,000 after the September payments shall have been made.

"The largely increased purchases of bonds for the sinking fund during the last two months over the corresponding months of last year show an increase in the premium paid of $2,575,026.13. All these things figure in the last 'debt statement' as an increase in the public debt, while in reality they have nothing to do with it. I can readily see how an honest misapprehension may arise from the form of the monthly statement, and therefore have taken the trouble to make their explanation.

"Similar apparent additions to the public debt are quite common. For instance, in March, 1885, the apparent increase was $89,256; in November, 1885, $4,887,000; in November, 1887, $4,190,000; in November, 1888, $11,199,817, and in February, 1889, $6,113,341."

Naval Notes.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Lieut W. O. Sharer, U. S. N., died yesterday at Aurora, W. Va.

The United States steamer Pensacola arrived at Baltimore yesterday to take part in the anniversary celebration of the battle of North Point.

The United States steamer Atlanta, sailed yesterday from New York for Newport News, Va., where she will be put through a turning trial.

Getting Alarmed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The state department has received numerous clippings from foreign newspapers, forwarded by United States consuls, all of the same tenor and against the international American congress which is to meet in this city next month. These journals profess to see in the congress a well directed effort to divert trade from Europe and a general menace to European industries.

Appointments by the President.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The president late yesterday afternoon made the following appointments: George W. Lyon, surveyor of customs for the port of New York; Theodore B. Willis, naval officer of customs in the district of New York, and Ernst Nathan, collector of internal revenue for the first district in New York.

Counterfeiter Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Chief Bell of the secret service is in receipt of a telegram from [illegible] Harris at San Jose, Cal., to [illegible] he arrested Charles [illegible] at San Francisco, [illegible] counterfeiting and [illegible] nickels, [illegible] complete outfit.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKS.

BELFAST, N. Y., Sept. 10.—A bad collision between freight trains occurred on the New York, Lake Erie and Western railroad, near Cuba, early yesterday morning. Two sections of an eastbound train had orders to meet No. 81, the Erie's fast freight, at Cuba Summit, four miles from Cuba station.

The first section had proceeded about a mile when the fast freight came thundering down the heavy grade, and the two trains crashed together, throwing between fifteen and twenty cars down the high embankment, completely demolishing them and their contents. The trainmen escaped with slight injury by jumping, except Brakeman Gray, of Wellsville, who was caught under the cars and instantly killed.

A Freight Wreck in Virginia.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 10.—A freight wreck occurred at an early hour yesterday morning four miles below this city on the Norfolk and Western railroad, resulting in the killing of Fireman McDowley, of Petersburg, Va., and perhaps fatal injury of Brakeman Randolph. The first section of the train broke loose on a heavy grade and seven cars ran back into the second section, which was but a short distance in the rear with the result stated. The injured brakeman was brought to this city where his leg was amputated.

SHOT BY TRAMPS,

Who Objected to Being Driven Out of Coshocton.

COSHOCTON, O., Sept. 10. While Marshal Hagans was trying to make some drunken tramps leave Coshocton yesterday they turned and opened fire on him, shooting him twice in the breast, but not seriously. Lee Ringer, a by-stander, was shot through the leg. After the shooting the sheriff and his deputies started in pursuit of the shooters. When they were cornered they kept up a steady and regular firing. Fortunately no one was shot.

While crossing the river one of their number was captured, being so drunk that he would have drowned if he had not been rescued, and another of the number escaped in a cornfield, and kept firing away every time any one got near him. A great many shots were fired at him. Finally he was pressed so closely that he took refuge under the river bank and did not surrender then, notwithstanding there were more than a dozen guns pointed at him, some not ten feet away, and while he was trying to shoot, J. J. Rose, who had a Winchester rifle, got the drop on him, shooting him through the arm, the ball passing through his cheek to the back of his neck, and there taking a downward course. The ball was taken from his back last night. Its course was about sixteen inches.

Two of the men are now in the county jail, and refuse to give their name. One of them says he is cowboy from Texas.

AN EARTHQUAKE IN WISCONSIN.

An Immense Stone Mill Cracked, and an Artesian Well Ceases to Flow.

KAUKAUNA, Wis., Sept. 10. The village of Florence, Outagamie county, a small place one mile above here, was shaken on Saturday by what is believed to have been an earthquake. The disturbance of the earth's interior seemed to have been directly under the spot where stands the immense pulp and paper mill of the Van Nortwick-Rogers company, and great damage was done to the structure.

The mill was but recently completed. It is built entirely of stone, and the immensity of the same can readily be guessed from the fact that it is the largest paper and pulp mill in the United States. The damage to the mill will reach far into the thousands. The north and east walls of the mill are cracked in many places, and have separated from the floor and roof several inches.

All of the machinery in the north end will have to be set over, as it is all out of place, many shafts being bent.

An artesian well on the bluff, 200 feet above the mill, has ceased to flow since the occurrence.

Brodie Did Go over the Falls.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. Steve Brodie, the latest hero of Niagara, yesterday, accompanied by his witnesses, Ernest Jerrold, Louis Ledger and John McCarthy, went before Notary Public B. B. Woolf, of 71 Essex street, and in a sworn affidavit told the story of the passage over the falls by Brodie last Saturday. The affidavit simply reiterates the story as published in [illegible] on Saturday, and as [illegible] by the four men above [illegible].

A Dangerous Ball to Play With.

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 10.—An Italian working on the Midland railroad eight miles north of here picked up a dynamite cartridge yesterday and began tossing it to a companion who let it fall and it exploded. Two of the Italians were literally torn to pieces, while others were seriously injured. The names of the dead men were not learned.

Fire in a Warehouse

NARROW ESCAPE OF OTHERS.

Twelve Women and Four Men Imprisoned in the Burning Building—Some of Them Meet Death by Jumping, While Others Escape with But Slight Injuries.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Fire started at 1:45 p. m., Monday, in the paper stock warehouse of P. J. McArdle, corner of Arch and Church streets. The building was a four story brick structure and was filled with junk. The flames spread with great rapidity, and the entire structure was soon a seething mass of flames upon which the volumes of water seemed to have no effect. In an hour the west wall fell.

An immense crowd of people were attracted to the spot by the dense volumes of smoke. A cry of horror went up as a woman was seen in a fourth story window surrounded by the flames. She looked below for a moment and then jumped to the pavement. Her ribs were fractured and she sustained internal injuries that will prove very serious. Her name is Ellen Frank.

Daniel Gannon, a boy was the next to appear in the window. He jumped, receiving a fracture of the ribs.

A Mrs. Prowers jumped from a fourth-story window and fell upon a pile of iron. She was horrible bruised and will die. The latter two were taken to the hospital.

The fire originated in the second-story, but from what cause is unknown. The spread of the flames was so quick and the heat so great that it was reported that a number of operatives did not have time to escape. The most alarming reports were circulated. It was impossible to obtain the names of the operatives, and naught but a search will reveal the truth or falsity of the exciting rumors. A large number were employed in assorting the junk, many of them women of an advanced age.

When the walls fell the streams began to take effect and the fire was speedily under control. The west wall in falling badly damaged the roof of a two story brick building. The names of the two women burned to death were Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Hyman. Mrs. Powers, who jumped from the window, said to a United Press reporter that these two women did not escape. Mrs. Ellen McShane has been taken to the hospital with a badly sprained ankle.

When the fire started there were twelve women and four men in the building, all in the fourth story. The flames spread so rapidly that there was no time to escape by the stairway, and the roof and windows were used. Three men got out by the hoisting apparatus, but Richard Gamble, the book keeper, jumped down the elevator shaft, and was injured so that he died at 6:30 last night.

Four women jumped from the fourth story window. Mrs. Mack, aged 50 years, fell on a pile of scrap iron, sustaining injuries, from which she died at 11 o'clock last night.

Others badly injured were: Lulu Hartmann, Carrie Swartz, Ellen Franks, Mrs. McShane, Daniel Gorman and John Biglin. All of the latter will recover. McArdle's loss is about $50,000; fully insured.

A FLOODED MINE.

Ten Men Drowned and Their Bodies Cannot be Recovered for Weeks.

GOLDEN, Cal., Sept. 10.—One of the most serious mining accidents ever known of in this portion of the state occurred late yesterday afternoon in White Ash coal mine near this place. An abandoned mine alongside of White Ash has for months been full of water, which yesterday afternoon, without a moment's warning, burst through into the White Ash mine filling it with mud and water.

Ten miners are known to have been at work in the mine at the time of the disaster and not one of them could have lived five minutes after the surging mass broke in upon them. It will probably take two or three weeks to reach their bodies. The names of but three of the unfortunate men can now be given: John Murphy, John Morgan and — Allen, but it is positively known that ten lives have been lost. Most of them have families. The work of pumping and clearing out the mine will be commenced at once.

Five Men Killed in a Boiler Explosion.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Sept. 10. At 11:35 yesterday forenoon, a boiler used on a farm of John W. Snider, half a mile east of this city, exploded with disastrous results. Five men lost their lives, viz. John W. Snider, Thomas Lyget, Andrew J. Lyget, John Briggs and Isaac Miller (colored). The men were grouped about the boiler which was leaking and and giving trouble. Mr. Snider gave the order to shut down, when in an instant the boiler exploded. William G. Spiller was blown some distance and escaped with a broken leg. All the men except Andrew J. Lyget have families and all are residents of this vicinity.

A Missing Prisoner Discovered.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10. Richard E. Taylor, who is charged with complicity in the forgery by which Wells, Fargo & Company's agent at San Jose lost $4,800 several months ago, was captured yesterday on the steamer Australia, which is lying at her dock here. Taylor was arrested in Honolulu several weeks ago and brought to San Francisco on the Australia, but when the steamer arrived in port last Saturday he was missing. He was found concealed in the hold yesterday.

THE CRONIN JURY.

But Little Progress Made in Securing Jurymen.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—But little progress was made yesterday in the work of securing a jury in the Cronin murder trial. When the court adjourned at 4 o'clock but one talesman was held over. Twenty-one were excused by the court during the day for cause and seven were peremptorily challenged by the defense.

Lawyer Forrest, who is defending ex-Detective Coughlin in the Cronin trial, with the aid of three large and heavy built men, raided the Carlson cottage and succeeded in getting away with pieces of the flooring and walls covered with spots of Cronin's blood. Since the cottage has become famous it has been arranged for the inspection of visitors by the building of a railing across the corner of the room. When the attorney commenced digging up the flooring with a pocket knife Carlson and his son-in-law, Mr. Lindgren, attempted to stop him, Carlson presenting a revolver at Forrest's head.

The three men accompanying Forrest jumped over the railing and overpowered Carlson and Lindgren and held them down on the floor until the lawyer had completed his work. They also took Carlson's revolver away from him. Having secured the specimens, Forrest and his accomplices jumped into a carriage and drove away. When they had safely seated themselves and the horses had been been whipped up, one of them threw Carlson's revolver back into the yard. Several officers were sent out to hunt Forrest last night, but they were unable to find him. The lawyer's three accomplices are unknown, and Carlson and Lindgren can give but a vague description of them.

State's Attorney Lengenecker said that there was no intention, as stated in a morning paper, of arresting Mrs. Tom Whalen. It is reported that the state are satisfied that they can get more valuable information from her, when she appears as a witness for the defense, as it is stated she will. Were she in the position of one accused of participation in the crime, she could refuse to answer important questions on the ground that her answers might be used against her on her own trial; appearing as a witness for the defense the state may ply her with questions, truthful answers to which may throw much light on the O'Sullivan house and the Carlson cottage on the night of May 4. Should she evade the questions or refuse to answer, it would certainly be prejudicial to the accused men.

Suspect Coughlin's Wife Talks.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 10.—The Journal's Duluth, Minn., special says: Mrs. Maggie Coughlin, wife of the Cronin suspect, is in the city. She says that she is willing to tell what she knows on the witness stand. She avers that the statement that her husband wore his uniform on the night of the murder is incorrect. She complains that she suffered the indignity of having all her personal letters opened in Chicago before they reach her.

Ocean Storm at Atlantic City, N. J.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10.—Atlantic City was visited last night by a terrific ocean storm, the waters extending to a point at least 500 feet from the beach proper, damaging the both houses and pavilions along the beach to the extent of about $50,000. Jackson's pavilion was almost entirely washed away, and Lee's both houses and pavilions were greatly damaged. The board walks in dangerous portions have been roped off by the Bradford Life Guards, which have averted loss of life as the walk is in parts entirely washed away and in some places in a very weak condition. Thousands of people watched the progress of the waters until a late hour, when they began to recede.

Killed by a Brick.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 10.—John Kolbl was killed yesterday evening by being struck in the breast with a brick alleged to have been thrown by a negro named William Chester in the saloon of John Frisch, at No. 2413 East Monument street. At 9 o'clock Sergeant Thomas F. Hogan, who was looking for Chester, came up with his man and arrested him. Chester tried to escape. He struck the sergeant a heavy blow and knocked him to his knees. Sergeant Hogan drew his pistol and fired four shots at Chester. One of the bullets struck Chester in the back of the neck and killed him. Kolbl was 30 years old and leaves a wife and three children at No. 501 Rose street.

Forest Fires.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 10.—Information has just been received here that one of the fiercest forest fires yet reported is raging in St. Regis district in Missoula county, on the Coteely ranch. Coteely and the hostess of the ranch mounted horses and barely escaped with their lives to the river, less than a quarter of a mile away and reached the water after having the clothes nearly all burned from their bodies. A Swedish prospecter and his horse perished in the flames. J. C. Veeder, who has returned from the Lo Regis county, says he feels certain that several men perished in the conflagation higher up in the mountains.

Trying to Compromise

Efforts Being Made to Settle the London Strike.

THE LORD MAYOR INTERESTED.

A Plan of Settlement Formulated, Which will Be Submitted for Ratification to Meetings of Both Parties—Other Dispatches from Abroad.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The negotiations looking toward a settlement of the great strike have scarcely been interrupted by the slight outburst of feeling caused by the refusal of the strikers to endorse the action of their leaders in accepting the last compromise proposed. The lord mayor, notwithstanding his threat to wash his hands of the whole business after the strikers had rejected his proposals, was engaged yesterday in the work of harmonizing the two opposing interests.

Cardinal Manning and Bishop Temple ably seconded the lord mayor's efforts, and all three held conferences yesterday with representatives of the dock companies and of the striking laborers. All the parties to these conferences were bound to secrecy, but it is learned that a compromise agreement was formulated which met the approval of all present, and which now requires only the formal ratification of the dock managers on one side and the strikers on the other to make it binding. The agreement will be submitted for ratification to meetings of both parties in interest.

Schnaubelt in London.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—For the last fifteen months, Rudolph Schnaubelt, the Chicago Anarchist, who is supposed to have thrown the fatal bomb in the Haymarket riot, has been living in London under the protection of an Anarchist named Peukert. The utmost secrecy has been observed with regard to Schnaubelt's presence here, but recently his identity was discovered, and his patron changed his quarters. It is now learned that Schnaubelt has fled the city, fearing that he would be arrested and extradited to Chicago. It is thought that he has gone to Copenhagen.

Thanks of the Pope.

BERLIN, Sept. 10. The pope has sent a telegram to Herr Windthorst, the leader of the clerical party in the German reichstag, thanking him for convening the Catholic congress at Bochum and another to Prince Bismarck conveying his thanks for permitting the congress to assemble. Bismarck replied to the pope's telegram, notwithstanding he had sanctioned the convening of the congress, he was not all in accord with the work it had done.

The Antwerp Disaster.

ANTWERP, Sept. 10. Many of the oldest windows of the cathedral here were destroyed by the explosions of Saturday. The bodies of numerous victims were recovered from the ruins of the cartridge factory yesterday. Many others were blown to atoms and only portions of their apparel can be found. Among these were five English visitors.

The Shah of Persia Alarmed.

ODESSA, Sept 10. The Shah of Persia has relinquished his plan to visit Odessa before his return home. He is greatly alarmed at his recent railway accident and has grown suspicious that it was not altogether an accident. He will on this account get out of Russia as quickly as possible and go direct to Persia.

LONDON, Sept. 10. The negotiations which have been pending for some months between the Bulgarian government and a syndicate of New York bankers for a loan of 25,000,000 florins, have finally fallen through and the Bulgarians are now looking to Berlin and Vienna to place the loan.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Miss Clara Barton, president of the Red Cross society, who has been superintending the hospital and relief stations for food and clothing in Johnstown, Pa., since the great flood, intimates that she desires additional help. She desired that Mrs. A. G. Hammond should return and assume charge of the relief station. Mrs. Hammond has responded to Miss Barton's appeal and will leave for the valley of the Conemaugh to-morrow. She will be accompanied by Mrs. William Sexton and Miss Nellie Law. The party will remain probably a month.

CHEYENNE, Wy. T., Sept. 10. The finest livery stable in the territory burned yesterday at Laramie. The horses were saved, but many costly carriages were destroyed. Loss, $50,000, partially insured.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF SUNSET COX

His Physicians Give Up All Hope of His Recovery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Congressman S. S. Cox is dying of malarial fever at his residence, 18 East Twelfth street. Six physicians, including Dr. Fordyce Barker and Dr. Stanton, of Washington, were in consultation yesterday, and at noon all hope of his recovery was given up. His wife was prostrated with grief. Mr. Cox returned several weeks ago from a lecturing tour in Dakota and Washington Territory in his usual good health.

Two weeks ago he went to Washington in the interest of one of his constituents and caught cold, which was followed by malarial fever. Mr. Cox's physicians think he can hardly live through the day. It was not until yesterday that his illness assumed the danger, necessitating the calling of so many physicians.

Mr. Cox's condition this morning is not materially changed. He seems to rally and the doctors think that the turning point for better or worse will be reached within twelve hours. The chief symptoms are pneumonia. He retains his faculties and wants to see the numerous people to call to inquire after him, but the physicians will not let him see anyone.

Great preparations were made for the wedding, which was to have taken place Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Wednesday Barnhill bought a marriage license, and Thursday he was suddenly taken very ill. A large number of guests had been invited, and they began to arrive early in the afternoon. At the hour appointed for the wedding Barnhill breathed his last in the arms of his intended bride, surrounded by the guests bidden to the wedding.

The market was not so active after 11 o'clock, and although its tone continued strong during the first half of the hour to 11:30, there was some selling of the leaders which resulted in a sharp reaction all around. At this writing the market is dull but steady.

Though the Heavens Fall!

DAYTON, OHIO.

I have been using your celebrated tonic,

BOWANEE

for indigestion and other ailments, and cheerfully testify to its excellence and merits in such cases. It is decidedly the best remedy I ever tried for derangements of the stomach and digestive organs. To persons who are shut up to a sedentary life, and who are liable to the disorders spoken of, it is an invaluable remedy. It gives tone to the system and promotes a sound, natural and healthy appetite. Respectfully,

HENDERSON ELLIOTT,
Judge Common Pleas Court.

Chicago Bound to Have It.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The Times will say: "Within the next few days some important developments are promised in connection with Chicago's world's fair project. A syndicate, composed of some of the wealthiest and most influential citizens of the city, has been organized, and proposes to put up not less than $12,000,000, and even more, if necessary, to make Chicago's success certain. Already $6,000,000 has been assured, and the other plan, when completed, will give the organization a backing of $25,000,000."

Ives and Staynor in Court.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The trial of Henry S. Ives and George S. Staynor for issuing fraudulent Hamilton and Dayton railroad stock was to have come off yesterday before Recorder Smyth, in part 3, general sessions. Counsel for the prisoners demanded separate trials. It was decided to try Ives first. The two prisoners were then taken back to Ludlow street jail.

A Watch Company Assigns.

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 10.—The Aurora Watch company has assigned, with liabilities amounting to nearly $250,000. The assets are supposed to be double that amount. The managers of the concern say the shut-down is only temporary, and it is rumored that a syndicate is at the bottom of the matter.

TUESDAY, - - SEPTEMBER 10.

For an off year in Marion county the Democrats are having a lively time in preparing to nominate a ticket. There are indications of a serious storm brewing.

The formidable life-destroying property of dynamite was fully illustrated in the Antwerp explosion. Since its perfection there has been no great war in which it could be used. Imagination is appalled at the work dynamite will do in the inevitable struggle for which Europe has been soo long preparing. Should it accomplish in actual war what is claimed for it, perhaps it will prove an universal peacemaker.

Our reference to the fight for the Democratic nomination for auditor was not raceived with any favor by Mr. Gutherie and his friends. Mr. Gutherie agrees with the Star that a personal attack is very dirty work, but he disclaims any knowledge of any of his friends doing so and indigoantly denies any responsibility for the actions of any who have done so. Let this be recorded in justice to Mr. Gutherie.

The subject of natural gas is awakening no little interest in Marion again. The commendable enterprise of piping it to this city from the unlimited field that Upper Sandusky has struck is receiving a good deal of attention, and some results may soon be apparent. Capital could soon be secured, to put such a scheme in operation were it not for the possibility of Marion having a gas field of her own. Very naturally one hesitates before putting money into an expensive pipe line when it is possible that gas might be developed here afterwards and the pipe line made useless. But the natural gas subject is worthy of serious consideration here. We are sure that Marion has not been fully explored for the hidden treasure, and until it is the pipe line project is very uncertain. Something should be done without too great delay. Marion cannot afford to sit idly by and see a village with Upper Sandusky's advantages offering inducements to factories that we can not duplicate. It is almost a half cheaper to drill a well now than when our former attempts were made and the territory about Marion should be fully explored. Our Wyandot neighbors had less encouragement in their early attempts than Marion, yet they kept pegging away until they have a gas field second to none. Theirs was an example that Marion can wisely follow.

IN THE HANDS OF A GORILLA.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 10. Yesterday afternoon Isaiah Slade, of Akron, O., visited the barn of W. H. Stewart where a ferocious gorilla is caged. The animal had just been fed, and one of the bars of the cage had been left up.

As soon as Slade entered the barn the animal sprang toward the opening of the cage, and forced its way through the same. Instantly it knocked Slade down. The yells of the unfortunate victim brought Stewart in, who, with great difficulty, drove the animal into the cage. Slade had his whiskers torn out, one eye gouged out, a part of his nose torn off, and is completely prostrated by fright. The animal is to be sent to Detroit for exhibition.

Shot His Friend and Employer.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—Albert Bement, editor of The Master Steam Fitter and Heating Engineer, and Edward Vavell, an employe of his, and his room mate, were on a spree last night. They went to their lodgings at the corner of Cass and Illinois street in a cab. There they became involved in a fight with the cab driver and Cavell drew a revolver, and in attempting to shoot the cab driver shot his friend and employer in the head, inflicting a probably fatal wound. Cavell and the cab driver are under ar- [illegible]

Two Men Killed.

Princeton, W. Va., Sept. 10.—In the Simmons Creek mines yesterday S. L. Ensley and S. T. Fowler, miners, entered the shaft to look for their tools, which were in a disused part. While doing so a large cut of coal and slate became dislodged and fell, crushing them both to death. They both leave large families.

Result of the Third Trial.

San Francisco, Sept. 10. Dr. Llewellyn A. Powell, who killed Editor Ralph Smith at Redwood City two years ago, because of an article in Smith's paper reflecting upon Powell, was convicted Saturday night of manslaughter. On two former trials the juries disagreed.

ODDS AND ENDS

Just now while the eloquence of Mrs. Jenness Miller still rings in our ears we are to an unusual degree on the alert in regard to anything pertaining to woman and her fancies or follies. I think no intelligent thinking person could listen to this lady's common-sense arguments concerning that bugbear of human flesh—dress, and not be convinced of the folly and utter absurdity of many of our fashions and the reasonableness of her theories of reformation. We have been slaves so long to the tyranny of of the petticoat that we predict it will not be the easiest thing in the world to sever the chains of our thraldom. Besides, there's two or three sides to every question.

The new system, while it gives wonderful freedom to the movements of the wearer, is a decided saving in the matter of material and laundry bills. Yet, after all, there is a lack of the romantic sentiment about this garment that for ages has, like a halo, surrounded the "dainty white petticoat." Who does not recall visions of dainty slippered feet peeping out from beneath billows of snowy ruffles and filmy lace? What masculine heart has not beat faster at the all-enchanting picture, especially if the pretty garments happened to be worn by—"Arabella?" I insist that much of the romance and sentiment of woman's dress depart with that "delightful abomination" —the petticoat, for what poet would ever dream of writing sonnets to the unpoetic, un-be-frilled, un-be-trimmed "leglet?" Who has not felt the delicious rythm of the familiar lines—

"How she held her dainty head,
How her dainty skirts she spread;"

Or—

"Her feet beneath her petticoat,
Like little mice, stole in and out?"

We might revise the lines to read something like this:—

She, by petticoats untrammeled,
Gracefully in leglets ambled.

When skies are dark and pavements dripping
The maiden down the street goes skipping;
Dreams of wet skirts no more shall fill her,
For she wears the "leglet" a la Miller.

Seriously, we are in favor of the new departure, and with joy hail the dawning of an era of freedom for suffering womankind. The heavy, burdensome skirts must go, and in their stead we welcome the self adjusting, non-resisting, health-promoting "leglet," and, while we are not in love with the name (it lacks dignity), we are most emphatically in love with the comfort and satisfaction the wearing is sure to bring.

* * *

But we are not so certain about the practicability of abandoning the corset altogether. While there are figures that might bear the sudden transition to advantage, there are others that the absence of the "stay" would convert into a spectacle of about the same artistic beauty as a wool sack tied in the middle. We are stout ourselves and know whereof we speak. True, the secret of the success of Mrs. Miller's system lies in the correct draping of the gown to enhance the effect and bring out the graceful outlines of the figure.

In talking with a prominent physician, who has a due appreciation for the appropriateness of feminine wearing apparel and who also gives very clear and convincing arguments in favor of the new system from a physiological standpoint, we gained some valuable information in regard to the injurious effect of the corset, and we beg leave to say right here that much will depend on the favor or disfavor with which the male population views the new system, whether it will be universally adopted or not. There is no use denying the fact that the men are to blame for many of the absurdities of womankind, and so sensitive are we as a class to the opinions of men in these matters that we venture to predict that if they do not vouchsafe to look with favor on the corsetless, bustleless piece of femininity there will be a speedy readjusting of both these articles of torture.

* * *

But we are gossiping to an unpardonable length over this new fangled dress question, and will submit these few remarks and await results. We have in mind some of our most prominent ladies in the social swim who have donned the entire outfit. Whether it be universal or otherwise remains to be seen.

* * *

The shades of night were falling fast
As through a western village passed
A maid who wore with dainty grace
A garment innocent of lace—
The "leglet."

NATALIE.

OBITUARY

FARNHAM—At his father's residence near Owens, O., Sept. 6th, 1889, Richard R. Farnham, son of Rev. Erastus and Nancy Farnham, aged 62 years, 2 months and 7 days.

In early life he devoted several years to traveling through different states and territories. When about twenty-five years of age he returned home and settled down for life, never leaving home unless prompted by the most important business. He was of a retiring disposition, reticent in conversation except when with his most intimate friends. He was honest and upright in all his dealings with his fellow men. By unceasing industry, prudence and economy was enabled to amass considerable property. So far as is known, he never made a public profession of religion.

The circumstances attending his death were about as follows: On the day of his death he was up and about as usual and made no complaint to any member of the family, but to Mr. Bert Grace he said that the night previous he had been prevented from sleep on account of severe pains originating in the region of the heart and passing through the body and limbs. He ate a hearty dinner and shortly after lay down upon the lounge, where he soon gave manifestations of suffering great pain, and ere the arrival of a physician life had fled. The funeral services were held at the residence Sabbath last, Rev. J. A. Sutton officiating, after which the remains were brought and for the present deposited in the Marion vault.

The parents and relatives desire to thank their many friends for their kindness and deeds of love extended to them in this their deep grief.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

Gen. Boulanger, like a great many noted men, is superstitious.

The youngest admiral of the English fleet is Sir Geoffrey Hornby.

W. S. Huntingdon says railroads will soon make 100 miles per hour.

The Comte de Paris is supposed to have 400,000 or 500,000 francs a year.

Samuel Trust, of Ripley county, Ind., is seven feet tall and is still growing.

Hadje Hassein Ghooli Khan still has American newspaper clippings sent to him in Europe.

Brown-Sequard has become a more interesting personage to visitors in Paris than Pasteur.

Jerry Morron, of Hancock county, W. Va., is over 20 years of age and scarcely three feet high.

M. Charles Garnier, the famous French architect, has a refined nervous face and hair touched with gray.

The pope has had his large bedroom filled with beautiful birds and seems to take great pleasure in watching them.

Tony Pastor, now 56 years old, made his first appearance before the public at the age of 6 years by singing at temperance meetings.

Commodore Robert W. Whiting, of Brooklyn, is 74 years old, but he is having a new boat built with which he expects to row 100 miles a day.

Lord Robert Cecil, the second son of Lord Salisbury, is practicing at the English bar. He means business, and bids fair to become a good lawyer.

Mr. Gladstone says that he brought his children up without constraint. "They have never been governed at any period of their lives by force."

Mr. Labouchere kindly observes that the German emperor "seems to be a manly young fellow, with a good deal in his character that is commendable."

Sir Edward Watkin has formed a company with a capital of $1,000,000 for the erection in London of a tower twice the height of the Eiffel tower at Paris.

The Swedish composer, Ivar Hallstrom, has just completed an opera, "Nenga," the libretto of which is from the pen of Queen Elizabeth of Roumania.

The oldest admiral in England is Sir Provo Wallace, aged 98. He was in the fight in 1812 between the Shannon and the Chesapeake, but he never commanded a steam vessel.

M. Solabel, a French architect, who has been employed of late in the palace of the king of Corea, was recently stoned by the servants of the palace and had to flee for his life.

Mr. Maybrick ("Stephen Adams"), the popular English singer, is much distressed at the death of his brother and the sentencing of that brother's wife for murder, and has canceled all engagements for a year.

Capt. Sidney M. Hinman, the young navigator who made the voyage from New York to Boston in the smallest boat that ever made the trip, is preparing for a trip from New York to Key West, Fla., in a dory.

Justice Field is a small man, owing to his short legs. His front is impressive. His forehead is high, running back into polished baldness; his remaining hair is bushy and silvery and his beard a venerable white.

William Waldorf Astor, who is the heir presumptive to about $200,000,000, is a model man for a millionaire's son. Although moderately fond of horses and yachting and a good boxer and fencer, he is more of a man of business than a man of pleasure.

Oliver Optic thinks that if he had half a dozen wide awake American boys to amuse he could do it better in Constantinople than in London or Paris. The two latter cities would not seem so much unlike New York or Boston to them, but in the city of the sultan everything they saw would have the charm of novelty.

WOMAN'S WEAR.

Richly tinted nasturtions, peppies of all colors, and corn flowers are all in high favor just now.

Shot grenadine is a new dress material. Costumes of this fabric are made up over shot silk and trimmed with velvet.

English dressmakers have adopted the fashion of having the seams on the outside of the skirt and binding them with ribbon.

Guimpes and slips are still much liked for little girls, and they also wear guimpe dresses, which have white cambric yokes and sleeves to simulate guimpes.

Many of the newest white cambric petticoats are tucked diagonally or perpendicularly to the knees, and are trimmed with insertion and edgings of torchon lace.

The prevalent fancy for "baby" ribbon has extended to underwear, and very elaborate undergarments are trimmed with lace, with the ribbon run in and out of the meshes.

Some of the newest bridal dresses are made with low corsages and long sleeves, the latter wrinkling about the arms in a manner similar to that produced by a very long glove.

Leather bands are used as hems, cuffs, collars, revers and waistcoats, upon walking and driving suits for country wear, and may be procured in colors to match the costume.

A blouse waist which fits the figure perfectly has a number of fine plaits at the back, which converge at the waist, and also on each side of the front. The collar and belt are also tucked in fine rows.

Very young ladies wear fichus which are made of extra wide sash ribbons. They are joined diagonally at the middle of the back and cross in front, where a few plaits fit them to the figure, and are knotted at the waist line at the back.

Velvet is likely to reign supreme during the coming fall and winter, not the figured and brocaded varieties, but the plain, rich material from the looms of Lyons, and it will be utilized for entire costumes and elegant wraps, as well as for combinations and accessories.

Among the daintiest of tea gowns was one of white cashmere and apricot silk, made with a single Watteau plait, falling from the shoulders to the feet in one unbroken line. The fronts were bordered with the silk, and long, hanging sleeves, over close coat sleeves of cashmere, were faced and turned back in revers with the same.

"Throw physic to the dogs."
—Shakespeare or Bacon?

Invigorating and appetizing if taken cold before eating in the morning. It tones up the system, settles a disordered stomach. A gentle, but sure cathartic. If a matitudinal cocktail must be indulged in, it will counteract its bad effects as to stomach and brain. An absolute and sure preventitive of sea sickness. Its components are closely allied to the gastric juices of the stomach.

An Antidote to Intoxicants.

If taken regularly, fresh and cold, three times a day, before each meal, it will put the stomach in such a shape that the necessity for stimulants will not be felt, and excessive desire can be toned down to simple moderation. I shall keep Clam Juice constantly on hand to be served free, hot or cold, to my customers. Knowing positively from experience that it will do all that is claimed for it above, I will try in every way to promote its use, as it is not my wish to encourage excessive drinking, and if I can discourage it by giving away freely the only known antidote I will only be too glad to do so.

NEGRO BOYS ATTACKED BY BEARS.

One Killed and One Taken to the Bears' Den, Where He Was Found.

Along the south bank of the Warrior river, in Tuscaloosa county, there is a tract of land, some 8,000 acres in extent, which is a strange combination of swamp, hillock and dense forest. There are little patches of forest where the foliage of the oak and poplar trees shut out the sunlight at noonday; then there is a cluster of little hillocks, some of them more than thirty feet high, and then comes a stretch of swamp, so dense and so dismal that only the most daring hunters will penetrate it. This locality is the hunters' paradise. In the notches of forest there are thousands of squirrels, turkeys, coons, rabbits and a few deer. In the swamp, bear, mink and other animals are found. The swamp is covered with a dense growth of canebrake, and in this black bears are found in large numbers. They prey on the young stock of the farmers around the swamp.

Just below this swamp there are several large plantations cultivated entirely by negro labor. Living in little cabins, many of them very close to the swamps or forest, there are probably 200 families of negroes. The little children of these negroes have no fear of the dark canebrake swamps or the dense forest; as a result they often get lost. Several times children have been lost in the swamp for a day and night at a time.

One day last week the two boys of Perry Taylor, colored, aged 4 and 6, left home early one morning and wandered off into the forest. They were not missed until noon, and then their parents felt no uneasiness about them. Night came on and still the two boys had not returned. Taylor and his wife were alarmed, but they could do nothing until morning. Next day they organized a searching party and penetrated the swamp and forest. There were some fifty people in the searching party, and they covered several miles of the swamp and forest without finding any trace of the missing children. The second day the search was continued, and probably 200 negroes joined the searching party.

At about noon of the third day five negroes, who had penetrated a mile further into the canebrake than the main searching party, found the dead body of the oldest boy. He had evidently been killed by a bear, and his flesh and clothing were badly torn. The main searching party came up and began to search for the youngest boy. A few hundred yards from the spot where the body of the oldest boy was found the party ran into a bears' den. There were one male and two female bears and five cubs. The old bears showed fight and were shot dead, several of the negroes being armed. At the sound of the shooting the five cubs had huddled close together under the upturned roots of a fallen tree. They were dragged out, and there, half smothered by the young bears, was the 4-year-old negro boy. There was not a scratch on the boy's body, but he was almost starved and was very weak.

The child said they got lost in the woods and kept walking until they were tired, and then lay down and went to sleep. He was awakened by hearing his brother scream, and, looking up, saw him in the clutches of a bear. The little fellow was too badly frightened to run or make an outcry. He lay still and saw his brother torn to pieces. Then the bear turned to him. He screamed and closed his eyes, expecting to be killed. The bear put its nose in his face, and, after smelling him a while, caught his clothing in its teeth and started away with him. The bear carried him to the den and dropped him among the young cubs, where he remained until found by the searching party. Neither the old or young bears made any effort to hurt the child.—Birmingham (Ala.) Letter.

Bigger Than a Fish Hawk.

Mahlon D. Turk, of Oley, six miles from this city, is the owner of five large fish dams. Of late he has been greatly troubled by the depredations of fish hawks, which have made frequent descents upon his fish preserves, where swim some 3,000 or 4,000 German carp of various sizes. The other day, intending to abate the nuisance somewhat if possible, he took down his shotgun, and with a supply of buckshot secreted himself in the bushes beside one of the dams. Presently an enormous bird soared overhead, and after circling around slowly three times made a rapid descent into the pond. Just as it emerged from the water with a fish in its talons Mr. Turk let drive at it with a load of buckshot and killed it instantly. Instead of being a fish hawk, as he supposed, it proved to be a bald eagle, and measured 5 feet 6 inches from tip to tip of its wings.—Reading Cor. New York Sun.

A Snake Voodoos a Chicken.

A farmer in the upper portion of this county was aroused one night not long since by the squalling of a hen on her roost in a cluster of vines near the house. Going out, the hen was apparently transfixed with fright and helpless in her movements. A large snake was found near by with eyes evidently set upon his prey. The hen continued her squalls without moving, as if in a nightmare, till the snake was killed, when she fell from her perch, recovering and flying away, but has since been in a droop.—Dalton (Ga.) Argus.

A Bachelor Until He Was 103.

The grandfather of Mr. Walls, now living near Athens, never married till his 103d year. His wife was just 20. They lived happily together. "It was no unusual sight," says The Athens Chronicle, "to see the old man, at the age of 130, plowing in the field. But he was taken sick when in his 138th year and lived but a few months."—Atlanta Constitution.

A well of water on a farm near Harmonyville, Chester county, Pa., suddenly "fell out" while the farmer's wife was drawing water a few days ago. Then the walls of the well abruptly collapsed. It is suspected that an underground lake or river drew away the water.

The Indian Problem Not Yet Solved.

While we congratulate the people of the whole northwest, and especially the citizens of Dakota, on the consummation of their long desire, the opening of the reservation by no means puts an end to the Indian problem as far as the Sioux are concerned. On the contrary, it is scarcely more than the beginning. Only a part of the reserve is acquired by the government; and the same questions will doubtless arise in future, as to that part, which have proved so vexatious in relation to the whole. No settlement can ever be regarded as final which stops short of the absolute allotment of lands in severalty and the adding of all that remains to the public domain. Again, it seems as if the government were merely abandoning one posture of the "guardian and ward" attitude in order to assume another. The reservation system, with its issue of rations and consequent tendencies toward idleness and vice, has scarcely a friend remaining. Yet we have only the same thing in another form in the practice of accumulating immense cash funds for the benefit of the Indian, to be held in trust by the nation, while interest is paid regularly to the beneficiary. The purchase of these lands by the nation means a permanent investment in trust for the Indian. And it is not according to nature that a quarterly payment to him of so many dollars in cash as interest will be any less demoralizing than the issue of so many blankets and so many pounds of flour, beef and pork.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Badly Used Up by Bees.

Mr. George Murray, a teacher at the Colliery board schools, Dipton, with the assistance of one or two other gentlemen, was preparing to carry some half dozen hives of bees from the Colliery farm to the fells at Waskerley. During the process of packing them in a cart the bottom fell off one of the hives, and, as a natural consequence, the bees came buzzing out and stung Mr. Murray and his companions, as well as stinging the horse attached to the cart. The animal bolted away in fright. Hundreds of bees found their way out of the remainder of the hives, and not only stung the occupants of the cart and the horse in a dreadful manner, but the insects also fastened themselves upon a number of school children who were having a ride through the village on a hay cart. Mr. Murray and his companion (Mr. Elliott) were left lying on the ground in an exhausted and almost unconscious state, and the horse was so badly injured by the insects' stings that it fell down upon the road and succumbed the same night. Mr. Murray was also confined to his bed for some time, but on Saturday he was reported to be much better. The rest appear to be very little worse.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Cotton Worms.

That one drug house in Vicksburg should receive orders for fifteen tons, or 30,000 pounds, of paris green in one day demonstrates the extent of the apprehension felt by cotton planters concerning the cotton worms in the large area of country tributary to or trading with that city. With the cotton worms apparently so formidable in their second generation, the third generation, which forms a vast increase over its progenitors, may do very serious damage. It is extremely unfortunate, if it be true, that the available supply of paris green has been already exhausted. It is likely that far more than the amount already used will be needed. Where these pests are unchecked by poison, in their third generation, they have been known to ravage cotton fields and leave the stalks as bare of foliage in the latter part of August and September as they are in early February before being pulled up and burned, preparatory to the planting of a new crop.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Military Islamism.

There is about modern Mohammedanism, at least of the military type, nothing of the uncertainty and shillyshally with which modern Christianity is sometimes reproached. The prophet understood the natural man of Asiatic and African races perfectly well, and his mode of procedure is still fully justified with them. He did not, like some unwise fanatics, promise universal victory, invulnerableness, or anything of the kind. The followers of the Khalifa are quite aware that they may be collectively defeated and individually killed. But that does not interfere either with their certainty of the ultimate success of their cause, with their sense of the duty of offering conversion, tribute or the sword, or with their enjoyment of the comfortable prospects of the martyred believer.—Saturday Review.

Jersey Mosquitoes Astray in Japan.

An extraordinary statement was made the other day by a man from Miyagaiken. He stated that in Sendai, since the 11th and 12th ult., the people have been much troubled with a kind of poisonous butterfly. To touch one of them causes the flesh to itch, and if scratched to swell and remain swollen for a very long time. In daylight, he says, they do not make their appearance, but at twilight they swarm into the houses. With the approval of the authorities fires are now burned at the entrances of houses and yards to attract the insects and destroy them.—Mainichi Shimbun.

The American rage for baseball is after all weak compared to the British craze for cricket. At the last match between the two greatest of the county elevens, Surrey and Nottingham, which took three days to play, nearly 60,000 people went to see it and Surrey's victory. The batting of Lockwood and Abel, who together made 159 in Surrey's second inning, was so important toward winning the match that the collection taken up for their benefit amounted to £42, £5 of which was in penny pieces.

Of the 35,000 tons of wire fencing annually imported into the Argentine Republic it is said that Belgium furnishes half, Great Britain about a quarter and France somewhat less.

THE KILLING OF GEN. JORDAN.

A Violent Man, and the Sudden Death That Overtook Him at Last.

A dramatic sequence of events lay behind the recent assassination of Gen. Lopez Jordan in the streets of Buenos Ayres. Jordan was a violent, venturesome, unscrupulous man, who had experienced all the ups and downs of an adventurer's career. He was born in Concepcion, Uruguay, in 1822. He was educated in the Jesuit college, in Buenos Ayres, and in 1841 entered the Argentine army as a lieutenant. In the revolutionary times of 1849 he was commandant of his native town. He was unpopular, even among his own people. He was quarrelsome, imperious and insolent, and always ready to meet any resentment which his conduct excited with a challenge to a duel. In the disturbances of 1851 he took sides with the tyrant Rosas against the rebellious Gen. Uquriza.

Under the protection of his chief he committed all sorts of misdeeds. His most atrocious crime was the murder of Maj. Casas. In the shadow of this crime he passed the last years of his life, and in consequence of it he met a violent death. Casas was the prefect of the city of Palmas, in the province of Entre Rios. He was a landed proprietor and a cattle man of great wealth. In 1873 he made a trip through the province for the purpose of selling 1,000 sheep and a large strip of woodland. In returning home with the proceeds of the sales in his pockets he passed through the region held by Jordan's troops. Jordan heard of his presence, and ordered that he should be arrested. It was done. Jordan received Casas in his tent, questioned him as to his possessions, and then, without a word of accusation, complaint or explanation, commanded that he should be executed. Casas was tied to a tree and slaughtered like a sheep. Jordan seized all the money found on the dead man's body, and afterward stripped his victim's family of all their property.

Justice is pretty leaden footed in the Argentine Republic, especially when she is after generals; nevertheless, she began to overhaul Jordan almost immediately after the despoliation of the Casases. One by one his crimes were turned against him until in 1878 he was imprisoned in Parana on the charge of murdering Casas and Gen. Urquiza. By bribing the guards he made his escape from jail and left Parana in the disguise of a beggar on the arm of his daughter. He concealed himself over the border for ten years. After the amnesty of 1888 he returned to Buenos Ayres.

In the meantime the young son of Maj. Casas had become a man. He had seen many black days since the despoliation of his family. His mother had died of a broken heart, in extreme poverty. On her deathbed she made him swear to avenge his father's murder. A keen struggle with the world to obtain food and clothes for his sister and himself kept this oath fresh in young Casas' memory. He knew that Jordan would come back to Buenos Ayres some day, and he watched carefully for news of his return. A few weeks ago news of Jordan's reappearance came to Montevideo, where young Casas, as a reporter, was making a fair living for his sister and himself. Casas went at once to Buenos Ayres.

One Saturday noon Gen. Lopez Jordan stepped from his house into the most crowded street of Buenos Ayres for his midday stroll. Some hundred steps from his door a young man sprang before him and asked:

"Are you Gen. Lopez Jordan?"

"Yes."

"I am Aurelio Casas, son of Maj. Casas, whom you murdered sixteen years ago. I am come to shoot you."

Gen. Jordan stood quite still and spoke a few words of apology. Aurelio Casas did not heed them. He motioned back the gathering crowd, drew a revolver and shot Gen. Jordan in the throat. Gen. Jordan did not move. Casas fired a second shot. It passed into Gen. Jordan's heart, and he fell dead to the ground.

Some one shouted "Murder!"

"I am no murderer!" shouted back Casas, who remained beside his victim's body. "I have merely killed the man who killed my father." Then he threw down his revolver and walked away. Subsequently he surrendered himself to the police. The body of Gen. Lopez Jordan was carried to his palace, which had been built and furnished with the proceeds of the crime just avenged.—New York Sun.

Do Not Believe in a Future Life.

When a gypsy dies that is the end. Every member of the race has a horror of death, because no gypsy lives who has faith in a hereafter. They cannot be induced to contemplate it. No genuine gypsy ever accepted Christianity. Borrow in his many years of Bible and missionary work among them never claimed to have converted one. In all countries, as is true of a goodly number of other folk, they occasionally profess a sort of attachment to the ruling creed. For instance, we hear of a "gypsy exhorter" in Ohio, and the other day a good bishop of Delaware was allowed to christen a gypsy child in a camp near Wilmington. But these little hypocrisies are all in the way of gypsy thrift.—Springfield Republican.

Bees and Gold.

Clinton A. Snowden, of Tacoma, saw bees going and coming from a hollow tree. He built a fire, smoked out the bees and cut down the tree to get the honey. He found a great lot of it; but, better still, a large quantity of gold was in the hollow trunk. It had evidently been deposited there by nature, and the wise men out there think that it was "gradually washed up every year by the flow of sap, and in course of time accumulated into a solid mass." Mr. Snowden got over $7,000 for the gold.—New York Sun.

[illegible] to Drink.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Sept. 9.—B. M. Hockett, a printer, who came to Clarksville from Cincinnati several months since, attempted to commit suicide in a saloon last evening by swallowing three ounces of laudanum. Medical aid was summoned, but it is not thought possible for him to recover. Despondency and drink caused the rash act.

A Duty to Yourself.

It is surprising that people will use a common ordinary pill when they can secure a valuable English one for the same money. Dr. Acker's English pills are a positive cure for sick-headache and all liver troubles. They are small, sweet, easily taken and do not gripe. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co.

WIANT'S.

Ohio's Prohibition Leader.

Rev. J. B. Helwig, D. D., was born at Canal Dover, Ohio. His ancestors, on his father's side, were German and Lutheran. On his mother's they were English and Wesleyan. His earlier education was obtained in the rude log school house, and for several years, with books beside the blacksmith's anvil, he pursued his chosen study of theology. Dr. Helwig has held pastorates in English Lutheran churches at Lancaster, Cincinnati, Dayton, Akron, Ohio, and is at present pastor of the First church at Springfield. Each church which he served rapidly gained strength and prominence. He was called to the presidency of Wittenberg college, which position he filled successfully for eight years—loved by all, for he knew how to sympathize with those who were struggling against difficulties and in need of encouraging counsel and a helping hand. Dr. Helwig served the First English Lutheran church at Akron for four years, and under his leadership its growth and prosperity was phenomenal. A few weeks since he was called to address the people of Akron from his former pulpit. Members from all churches and citizens generally, gave the gentleman a perfect ovation. On this occasion Dr. Helwig told why he accepted the candidacy for governor of Ohio at the hands of the Prohibitionists.

Marion will have the opportunity tomorrow afternoon and evening, at City Hall, to hear this strong, solid man speak upon Prohibition. Men and women, everybody come and hear. Workingmen, come and hear your friend. U.

The Ladies Delighted.
